Britain to Supply V-Jets to NATO

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain yesterday announced she will provide NATO with giant V-bombers place of Canberra twin-jet bombers.

Air Secretary George Ward said the supersonic swept-winged planes, powered by four big jets, "will give NATO the power to deliver atomic weapons beyond fringe areas in any future war."

Ward's announcement came in a memorandum attached to estimated RAF costs of £490,000,000. He said NATO supreme commander, Gen. Lauris Norstad, has accepted Britain's plan to replace Canberras with Valiant, Victor and Vulcan bombers.

$100 Fine Follows Drivers' Argument

Assault charges, one involving actual bodily harm, led to fines for two men in separate cases in city police court yesterday.

Blake Sprague, 4060 Granville, was fined $100 after pleading guilty to assaulting James Ritchie in a fight Saturday which followed arguments over driving habits on Yates Street.

In the fight, on Rudlin Street, Ritchie said he suffered a broken nose and cuts to the forehead and back of his head.

College Planners Praised

The university sub-committee of the Chamber of Commerce was told yesterday by president G. Conway Farrott that it had done a good job in encouraging the climate for a university for Victoria.

Capt. G. R. Newell, chairman of the sub-committee, was warmly applauded by directors when he described the opening of the Ewing Building extension at Victoria earlier this week.

"The arguments used for a university by members of the government and others were almost identical with those presented by the Chamber, even in regard to the question of a suitable site," he said.

'Romeo, Juliet' Vast, Vigorous

By BERT BINNY

VANCOUVER — Following their successful Thursday night presentation of "Pygmalion," the Canadian Players yesterday turned from Shaw to Shakespeare, from the modern idiom to the classical and from comedy to tragedy.

They gave "Romeo and Juliet" before a big audience consisting in a very large part of students. This same play forms the matinee bill at the Royal Theatre in Victoria this afternoon.

It is a tremendously vigorous production. At the same time, it is completely believable, which is a triumph alike for the players and for director Tony Van Bridge. Vast breadth and scope were afforded by the skilful use of off-stage effects.

John Horton as Romeo and Marigold Charlesworth as Juliet built surely and effectively towards their climax. To them fell the lines that have been quoted millions of times under all manner of circumstances but they both, and Miss Charlesworth in particular, gave them their true meaning.

Deborah Cass as the nurse, Peter Needham as Mercutio, and Bruce Swerefager as Peter played wonderful comedy. Actually, there were no weak parts in the play at all.

New Rebel Leader

Cuban revolutionary movement being organized in Miami against Fidel Castro is believed to be led by Rafael del Pino, former rebel and long-time friend of Castro. He says Castro has become merely a tool for the Communist designs of Raul Castro and a few others in his top directory.

Three Concerts For Price of One

Purchase of season tickets "right now" is the best way to ensure seats for the Sir Ernest MacMillan concerts March 15 and 16 with Victoria Symphony Orchestra, conductor Hans Gruber said yesterday.

"Buying the season's tickets gives three concerts for just a few cents more than the price of one," he said.

Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf," with Gordon Petter of Victoria as narrator, will be the feature of the concert to be presented this Sunday at 3 p.m. and Monday at 8 p.m. in the Royal Theatre.

Gardener Honored

A co-designer of the famous Butchart Gardens, William Westby, 1584 Yale, has been internationally recognized as a landscape gardener in the February issue of the American Home magazine.

The color photograph of a rock garden designed by the 56-year-old gardener is the second by him to appear in the magazine in the last year.

Mr. Westby came to Victoria with his parents in 1912 and started work as apprentice to his father, a landscaper. The two were responsible for designing the sunken garden at Butchart's Gardens.

Recently, Mr. Westby designed the grounds around the Power Commission and B.C. Electric buildings.

Francis Gets Legion Post

New secretary-manager of the Esquimalt Legion on March 1 will be Mickey Francis, well-known city actor.

Mr. Francis now is secretary-manager of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada branch, and formerly was manager of the Dockyard officers' club.

Two City Scouts Win High Honors For Rescuing Pal

Two Victoria Scouts, who saved a companion Scout from drowning last May 24, were among nine British Columbians named in the high honors and awards list announced yesterday by the Boy Scouts Association of Canada.

A total of 71 Canadians, including five "bare-face" miner heroes of the Springhill, N.S., mine disaster, were on the list announced in Ottawa by Governor-General Vincent Massey, Chief Scout for Canada.

CITY WINNERS

Victoria winners of certificates of Merit for Gallantry were Troop Leader Shon Mockridge, 15, of 1527 Burton, and Scout John Clemens, 13, of 1535 Edgeware, both members of the 37th Victoria Troop.

Two other Islanders, one now living in Kingston, Jamaica, were on the honors list, and a Kemano boy was one of two B.C. winners of the Cornwell award, highest Scout award.

TAHSIS CUB

Certificate of Meritorius Conduct was won by Cub Sixer Ken Pearson, 10, of Tahsis for his quick action in saving Cub Wayne Shuman when the latter fell into 20 feet of water at the Tahsis boat works, Jan. 5, 1958.

Other Island winner was former Alberni district commissioner Hubert B. Twiss, now of Jamaica, who built up district membership from one Scout group to six with a total membership of 300.

He was awarded the Silver Acorn for outstanding work which helped strengthen scouting.

SAVED LIFE

Victoria Scouts Mockridge and Clemens were honored for saving the life of Scout John Anderson at Beaver Lake. The three were swimming together when young Anderson began to flounder about 30 feet from a raft. The other two managed to get him to safety after a struggle during which the 13-year-old Clemens was once pulled under.

The awards were announced on Feb. 22 to mark the birthdate of Lord Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement.

Scouting's "Victoria Cross", The Cornwell Scout Badge, was awarded to Kemano Patrol Leader Fred Vance for his "magnificent display of courage, cheerfulness and endurance" after he was severely burned in a gas lamp accident on an overnight trip.

On Nov. 15, 1958, he and nine other boys were settling for the night in a cabin 3,000 feet above Kemano when they had to adjust a gas lamp. It exploded turning Patrol Leader Vance into a "human torch."

WRAPPED BLANKETS

Fast action by the other Scouts, who wrapped blankets around him, smothered the flames.

Queen's Scouts Jack Smith and Mike Fletcher then called Kemano on a portable radio unit and requested aid.

A helicopter picked up the injured scout and carried him to hospital wth second and third degree burns.

MINE DISASTER

Rescue work by Scout leaders following the Springhill, N.S., mine disaster last October was also recognized in high honors and awards.

Five bare-faced miners, who entered gas-filled pits without respirators Oct. 23 immediately after an underground upheaval trapped 174 miners, were awarded scouting's second highest bravery award, the Silver Cross. The Springhill Boy Scouts Association was cited for "unsolicited magnificent service."
